A group of nursing students at Blessing-Rieman College of Nursing and Health Sciences is collecting socks, hats, coats, gloves, and winter clothing items (and donations) to take to the homeless shelters in town. There are drop boxes at Quincy University and Blessing-Rieman. Call the office for more details.

Office Hours: M-F 9am to Noon. Please come in only if it is necessary; otherwise call.

Matt's Minute

Carry each other's burdens, and in this way you will fulfill the law of Christ. - Galatians 6:2 (NIV)

Occasionally, I will still hear a phrase that used to be very common when I was younger. The saying didn't bother me as a young child, but as an adult, I find it deeply disturbing. The saying is: "There's more than one way to skin a cat."

Well, I guess I am going to let the cat out of the bag...that's an awful saying. There should be no cat activities that involve harm of any kind, period. Life is tough enough and we have an obligation not only to do no harm, but also an obligation to do actual GOOD. And this obligation extends to all of creation - including sisters and brothers of all kinds - colors - preferences - ethnicities - countries - political parties - religions - abilities.

Galatians is clear that for us to please God, and to live out God's will in our lives we must "bear one another's burdens" (aka do some GOOD!). So protect a cat or another of God's little creatures, reach out to someone struggling, stand up for equality for someone society is trying to ignore, show some extra extra extra grace, and be the person God longs for any Christian person to be.
